Message from Pastor Jeff:

I am not a “church growth” expert. Expert or not, growth is at the core of the Christian experience. Failing to grow is failing God. But don’t take my word for it. Here’s what Jesus had to say following His resurrection and in His final appearance to His followers (Matthew 28:18-20)

“¹⁸ And Jesus came and said to them, “All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. ¹⁹ Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, ²⁰ and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age.”

Clear enough. Christians are called to bring people to Christ, to grow the church – the “body of Christ.”

There is another facet. Not only are we called to bring people to Christ, we are called to grow in Christ. We’ve all done this. No one would argue their faith is as it was when they were children. It has changed, been shaped by our lived experience and faced times of doubt that hardened its metal.

So a question comes to mind. Can growth occur without change? No. To grow is to change. I think this is at least in part why God said, “Behold, I make all things new.” To grow into the new thing God is doing means we must be open to change.

I mention all this because we are beginning a new year. I do not know what the future holds, but I do know what God expects – growth. So in the days ahead let us seek not what has been, but what God intends. May we, pastor and people, seek to grow the church and to grow together. May we overcome any fear we might have of change so we might embrace the One who makes all things new.

I wish you not just a Happy New Year but a faithful one,

Pastor Jeff

Our Organist, John Atwood

I haven't selected the music for most of the month as we enter a period of Ordinary Time, but selections will be varied. For Sunday January 13 as a prelude I will play "The Old Year has Passed" from J. S. Bach's Little Organ Book (Orgelbuchlein). The Orgelbuchlein consists of 45 pieces that Bach intended to sharpen the skills of his organ playing kids, and is considered a set of some of his most difficult organ works, even if each piece is short, I believe a case of paternal "tough love" rather than sadism!

One piece of news for you is that I had a successful exploration with Chris Rua (recorder) and Lucy McClellan (Viol di Gamba). We are planning a service after January 1 of music for recorder, gamba, and continuo (organ using less than three stops). I'm learning there are a lot of early music players in the region to tap for services!

VT Conference Associate Minister Paul Sangree

Hi!

It is good to write to you today as your new associate conference minister! I started at the beginning of December, and have had the chance to "shadow" my wonderful predecessor, Pam Lucas at a number of events. Pam has had such a meaningful ministry in our conference over the past 19 years, and it has been such a gift for me to see personally just a few of the ways that she has touched the churches and the pastors of our conference. I know that we are all profoundly grateful for her.

I have also had the chance to spend some time with our conference minister, Lynn, who has such a wealth of knowledge about our churches and who cares so deeply about our ministry together. Jesse and Charri are also such gifts in our conference office, so it has been a great month to get to know all of them.

But now that the Advent and Christmas seasons are over, I am looking forward to getting out to spend time with more of you! I was a parish pastor for 32 years, serving churches of all different sizes, and I am a good listener, so I will look forward to hearing how your ministry is going, both the good and the bad. I also want to hear from you about how our conference can help you, and how you could help the people and churches of our conference.

So please reach out to me! You can reach me at sangreepucc@gmail.com, or at 508-838-0475. I would love to get together for lunch or coffee or any other time that is good for you. Invite me to come to spend time with a group, or invite me one-on-one. I would also love to come visit your churches on a Sunday morning-I promise you that I am a good preacher and will not embarrass you!

I look forward to our future together!

Faithfully yours,
Paul

Ginny will present the check during the service with a plea to donate or purchase items at Coffee Hour.

The next BMSA book group will be on March 10th. Once again it will be a pot luck brunch and discussion of the book SMALL GREAT THINGS by Jodi Picoult. The books will be ready to borrow by the end of January. Please let Ginny or Holly know if you would like a copy. Photo of the book cover in attachment.
Thanks so much
