Word From The Pastor

The world of today may not know it, but it is in desperate need of a rebirth of the Christian faith. I do not mean all the world's peoples must become Christian if civilization is to continue – such a presumption would be a denial of the unique elements of transcendent truth found in the faith of others and would presume too noble a virtue for the Christian community. What I am suggesting is that both the Christian and non-Christian world embrace the reality of sin and the partiality of our respective claims on truth. While Christ may indeed be virtue in its pure form, those who follow in His Way can make no such claim. Our individual finitude, the limits of time and space, foisted upon our corporal being makes one's thoughts and opinions subject to those same limits. Thus a white Anglo-Saxon Protestant male, like myself, may wish to claim his truth to be a universal truth for all, but to make such a claim one must be blind to the truth born out of the same limits that those living in another time or another place legitimately claim as their own. This is not to say that humanity is left with only relative truth that reduces all truth to nothing more than individual experience. Humanity's sense of justice suggests that we are capable of grasping the truth claims of those unlike ourselves even if our understanding of that truth is at best partial. What is needed is a universal humility that is aware of the nature of sin. It is our tendency to ignore our own involvement in sin that leads us to presume a virtue that exceeds that of our adversary. I believe this is what led Reinhold Niebuhr to write:

“Nothing that is worth doing can be achieved in our lifetime; therefore we must be saved by hope. Nothing which is true or beautiful or good makes complete sense in any immediate context of history; therefore we must be saved by faith. Nothing we do, however virtuous, can be accomplished alone; therefore we are saved by love. No virtuous act is quite as virtuous from the standpoint of our friend or foe as it is from our standpoint. Therefore we must be saved by the final form of love, which is forgiveness.”¹

In this era of division it is important to try to bridge the gap between our various points of view. Yet far more critical is for each of us to remember the gap between our individual selves and God. It is critical that I remember my limits for in so doing I, too, may see my need to be forgiven and thus create an opening for God’s love even in the midst of conflict.

Faithfully,
Pastor Jeff

a note from our organist, John Atwood:

I wish to thank the choir for its service to the church community and to me, as each member brings something different to the service, the combined talents allow the flexibility of performing a broader range of compositions than would otherwise be possible. And the choir members bring this off with less than 45 minutes practice each week!

The members are: sopranos Janice Blake, Joan Osgood, and Martina Stever; plus Bridget Peters (soprano or alto), and Marcia Tomlinson (alto or tenor). Janice, we know you are still recovering from your fall and we miss you! We hope to see you all next September 8.

(see page 11 for this summer's lineup of special music)

From your Diaconate

A reminder: every Communion Sunday the small “Diaconate Fund” envelopes are placed in the pews. It is through your generosity that the Fund is available for helping those in need, be it heating oil, electricity, shelter, food, or medicine. Every donation, no matter its size, is graciously accepted and lovingly applied!

Children's Sunday on June 9 was a great success! The kids were very proud to ring the church bell, do the readings, take the collection, and generally be in charge of the church service. Afterwards, the kids and the rest of the congregation enjoyed a delicious picnic lunch at Elizabeth's Park--we couldn't have picked better weather for it! Thank you to everyone who helped make the day a success, and who continues to love and support the wonderful children of our church.

Acolytes: taking their role seriously

Balloons and smiles decorated the Sanctuary

Many helping hands for the offering!

Eye-Spy ... crosses!

and then it was time for the picnic at Elizabeth's Park!

Bright sunshine, gentle summer breezes, delicious food, and most of all ... multi-generations enjoying a special day together.

It's nice to know we'll keep on seeing each other now that Sunday School is year round!

Prayer requests may be emailed to Sometimes events and/or changes come up after the Epistle has been uploaded. It's always good to check the Weekly Email for last minute updates.

To be added to the Weekly Email list, click here. If you have an area event to list in the weekly Email's "Around Town" section, please let us know!

After the 2019 year, Kim Merrill and Bethanne Tillotson will no longer be available to coordinate the annual Community Christmas Dinner held in Bradford on Christmas Day.

Kim and Bethanne are willing to work with new people this year to learn the coordination and management of this essential event. If you are willing to take on this important role, please email Kim (kmm5957@gmail.com) or Bethanne (bandgtillotson@gmail.com) ASAP.

If no one comes forward by October 30, this will unfortunately be the last year for the dinner. Please come forward to keep this important event available to our local community. Thank you for your support. Kim Merrill and Bethanne Tillotson

More from Organist John Atwood: a look into some very special music coming up in August! He says: here is the list of four performances during church services I have lined up for August 4 to and including September 1, although exact dates of three performances are yet to be determined.

August 11. Organist Peter Beardsley, who frequently accompanies the North Country Chorus, will play Fantasy in A Major by C. Franck, and Variations on "A Mighty Fortress" by modern composer, Andrew L. Clarke. Other musicians who have committed performances, but not dates are as follows.

Betsy Alexander will sing a group of religious songs, possibly on 1 September
The Seven Stars Baroque Ensemble will perform works by English composer, William Corbett (Sonata #1) and Marin Marais (selections from Suite in g minor). The last composer composed music mostly for viols, and was hired by King Louis XIV, the Sun King. This ensemble directed by Chris Rua, includes three recorders, a viola da gamba, and the organ (soft flute stops). The date will probably be 18 or 25 August.

Danelle Sims will perform Bach Arias on Flute. Danelle played at Bradford some time ago, and we welcome her back!
